

MORELAND OPENING

GLENDALIANS PARTICIPATE IN FUNCTION TO CHRISTEN NEW MOTOR TRUCK PLANT

Glendale was much in evidence at the formal opening of the Moreland Motor Truck Plant at Burbank Saturday evening, as a good many of the employees are residents of this city. They and their families were entertained at the expense of the company with a delightful miscellaneous program furnished by pupils of the Pearl Keller School and other artists, in the assembly hall which was beautifully decorated with flowers and streamers in honor of the event. The program included:

Dolly Song by Sara Elizabeth Gerrett.
Solo Dance, Cecilia Mae Fischer.
Song and Dance, Marie Hearnshaw.
Tenor solos by Harry Porter with piano accompaniment by Mildred Porter.

The program was followed by informal dancing for which the Blondy Clark orchestra furnished music.

Watt L. Moreland headed the committee of arrangements. Jack Hearnshaw of this city was on the entertainment committee, Harry Greenwalt was a member of the reception committee, George Philippi of the refreshments committee, and other Glendalians helped in one way or another.

From 7 to 8 o'clock guests were conducted through the big plant, finding it a most interesting place to inspect, and later in the evening refreshments were served.

MAN HURT BY ARMY TRUCK RECOVERING

Mrs. Laurens Gosney, wife of the workman injured by one of the Arcadia army trucks when Capt. Perris' detachment was passing through the city en route home from Sacramento on May 22d, notified Glendale police headquarters Saturday that no communication had come to her or her husband from Capt. Perris and asked how to proceed. She said her husband was struck while at work on the city's electric sign at the west end of Broadway and his leg and ankle broken in several places. Capt. Perris took him to the Sanitarium for treatment and then went on to Arcadia. Gosney is still in the Sanitarium, but is getting along well. It is thought his ankle will be somewhat stiff but otherwise there will be no effects of the accident.

RETURNS TO OLD POSITION

Ernest Morgan, who has been acting deputy clerk of the U. S. Federal Court under Judge Trippett, for the past eighteen months, has returned to his old position as teller of the First National Bank of this city. He has enjoyed his court work but is glad to take the old job so much nearer home and where he comes in business contact with so many old friends. He was at the window this morning.

BOY SCOUT PARTY

Boy Scouts of Troop No. 4 were entertained Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burns, of 132 South Louise street to celebrate the fifteenth birthday of Robert Burns and also his return to the troop after an absence of four months. Flags were used in decoration and the national colors dominated the flowers employed by the hostess to give a festive appearance to her home in honor of the occasion. They also featured the refreshments served at the close of the evening. The troop held its regular business session and then enjoyed games led by Scoutmaster Blanford.

DORAN STREET P.T.A.

FINAL MEETING OF YEAR AND ANNUAL PICNIC KEEP MOTHERS BUSY

At the final meeting of the Doran Street P.T.A. which was held Wednesday afternoon, Rev. E. E. Ford was the speaker and made an excellent and practical address. The balance of the session was devoted to planning for the picnic which was enjoyed Saturday at Brookside Park and which was the treat which the association gives annually to children of the school. One large truck and six private automobiles driven by mother members conveyed the children to the park about 10 a. m. and brought them home at 5 p. m., tired but happy, as the park affords many pleasures and the youngsters tried them all, the plunge being the greatest attraction.

DEATH OF EDWIN J. MILES

Edwin J. Miles passed away at his home, 914 Randolph street, Sunday evening, June 6, 1920, at 6:30, aged 52 years. He is survived by a wife and three children, Ralph, Etta and Doris; two sisters, Mrs. Pearl McCauley of Glendale, Mrs. Rita Martin of Ramona Park; four brothers, Harry and Ernest Miles of Los Angeles, Robert Miles of Alameda and George Miles of Fresno.

The deceased was a member of the Glendale Lodge of Elks and the Macabees.

Funeral arrangements which are in charge of Pulliam & Kiefer have not been completed. Interment will be in Forest Lawn cemetery.

LEGION DANCE

LAST OF SERIES OF PARTIES BY EX-SERVICE MEN LARGELY ATTENDED

The last of the series of dances which the Glendale Post of the American Legion has been giving, took place Saturday evening in the Pearl Keller Studio, with about 150 members and guests in attendance. The Women's Auxiliary had been asked to take charge of it and Mrs. George Clayton, who headed the committee of arrangements, was responsible for beautiful decoration of the stage with flowers.

This evening the Women's Auxiliary will hold the last meeting at which charter members will be received. The organization now has an enrollment of between fifty and sixty and officials hope that every Glendale woman who is eligible to membership and who has not already joined, will present herself this evening and thus be listed as a charter member.

There will be considerable business to be transacted, among other items being the election of a secretary to succeed Miss Anna Bode, resigned. The Auxiliary will also decide upon a regular date for its monthly meetings. It will also consider an invitation to join the Glendale Post of the American Legion in an outing at the beach or the mountains, the time and place to be left to the ladies.

ENTERTAINS FOR DAUGHTER

Mrs. S. R. Buchanan of 242 North Orange street was hostess at a pretty party given Saturday evening from 7 to 10 for her daughter, Helene Buchanan.

The evening's program included two guessing games, one based on advertisements, the other birds. The prizes in these contests of wits were won by Margaret Brown and Evelyn Eckles. Other games were played and the girls danced until summoned to enjoy the dainty refreshments the hostess had provided. The guest list included: Misses Lina Borthick, Frances Betz, Sara Chandler, Winifred Parker, Lucile Allen, Margaret Longley, Irene Robison, Careta Walker, Gladys Hollingsworth, Margaret Brown, Dorothy Houston and Evelyn Eckles.

DARK HORSE DISCUSSION

SENATOR BORAH DECLARES FORMER JUSTICE HUGHES ACCEPTABLE TO HIM IF JOHNSON FAILS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, June 7.—Senator Borah declared today that former Justice Hughes will be acceptable to him as a second choice candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Borah emphasized that this is not to be taken as an abandonment of Senator Johnson and that his statement only holds good if Johnson is unable to secure the nomination.

Hughes, who is in New York, refused to comment on Borah's statement. Dark-horse talk was the main feature of this morning's discussions among delegates. Hughes' name was most frequently heard. Arriving delegates reported much Hughes talk in all parts of the country. Hughes' supporters opened headquarters for their candidate.

Senator Borah in a later statement said that his support of Hughes would be conditional upon Hughes' acceptance of an anti-league of nations plank in the Republican platform.

Other names heard frequently were those of Senator Lenroot, Governor Sproule of Pennsylvania, and Governor Allen of Missouri. Some delegates declared that Pershing's name would be brought forward if there was a deadlock.

The Hoover forces were busy all day lining up second-choice votes for Hoover.

State delegations held many caucuses which were expected to continue until late tonight. These meetings were to settle local disputes.

Senator Borah leading the anti-treaty forces, declared the settlement of the league of nations controversy without a fight on the floor of the convention is in sight by means of adopting a plank declaring the party's adherence to the policies of Monroe and Washington. It is understood that such a plank would be acceptable to Senator Lodge, Senator Watson and National Chairman Hays, also to Borah and Johnson, and that Borah does not care what else the plank contains so long as it does not indorse the league of nations stand of President Wilson.

A close fight is on the program for the permanent chairmanship of the convention and the chairmanship of the Resolutions Committee. National Chairman Hays, it is understood, favors Beveridge for permanent chairman and Ogden Mills of New York for head of the Resolutions Committee. Senator McCormick of Illinois is the rival of Beveridge and Senator Watson is Mills' opponent.

PROHIBITION UPHELD

IN SWEEPING DECISION SUPREME COURT SUSTAINS CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT AND VOLSTEAD LAW

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The Supreme Court today rendered a decision upholding the constitutionality of both the constitutional prohibition amendment and the Volstead enforcement act.

The court ruled the amendment was legally ratified and it having been properly approved, Congress had the power to pass the Volstead law.

The decision is a complete victory for the "drys" and so sweeping that apparently it settles for all time the legality of these two measures.

It means that the Volstead law must now be enforced in all states regardless of whether those states ratified the prohibition amendment or not. It also nullifies the laws permitting higher alcoholic contents such as were passed by New Jersey, Wisconsin and Rhode Island.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The Inspector General of the army today recommended to the War Department that an investigation be made to determine whether certain civilians and army officers should be prosecuted in connection with the escape of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy draft fugitive.

DRASTIC ACTION BY GOVERNOR HOBBY

DECLARES MARTIAL LAW IN GALVESTON, TEXAS, ON ACCOUNT OF STEVEDORE STRIKE

AUSTIN, Tex., June 7.—Governor Hobby of Texas today declared martial law in Galveston, to be effective at noon, on account of the stevedore strike.

NEARLY A MILLION

GLENDALE'S NEW BOULEVARD SYSTEM TO REPRESENT IMMENSE SUM

The street extensions and street work planned for the next 5 years to provide the city of Glendale with one of the finest boulevard systems in California, will cost nearly one million dollars, but will be worth far more than the cost. Three of these are already ordered, viz: Sycamore Canyon boulevard, Patterson avenue extension, and Commercial street, heretofore designated as the Broadway extension cut off. This latter will not only furnish a 120-foot wide boulevard entrance to the city from the northwest, but will make the present abrupt turns at Central avenue into an easy, sweeping curve. This curve will be designated Commercial street as well as the 120-foot wide boulevard from Kenilworth avenue to San Fernando Road. The other projects under contemplation are Monterey Road, an east and west boulevard from Verdugo Road to the Burbank city limits; a curving connection of Brand and San Fernando Road and a similar work at the head of Brand connecting it with Kenneth Road; and the widening of Los Feliz Road to 80 feet from the S. P. tracks or San Fernando Road, to Brand. The completion of these improvements will advertise Glendale to motorists, far and wide.

LIKE AS OF OLD

REV. COLE, AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH, DRAWS LESSONS FROM FATE OF JEWS

Both morning and evening sermons at Central Christian Church yesterday were lessons from God's dealings with the children of Israel and their destruction as a people and a nation after repeated warnings from many prophets, notably Jeremiah and Isaiah. Parallel to modern conditions in our own country as well as in those across the sea, were noted by the speaker. Just as the downfall of the Jewish nation came after a period of great prosperity, during which many evils prevailed, so came the dismemberment of the nations in Europe that caused the war. And we, in our mad scramble for wealth and power, should take warning from the fate of the Jews and of other nations that have grown arrogant in times of great prosperity. But the Church of Jesus Christ, said the speaker, ceases not to warn the people of their danger and in the end it will prevail. We are nearing the end of 50 centuries of warfare against an evil that has done more to debauch and demoralize the people of the world than any other agency, the liquor traffic, but we should not yet take down the danger signals, for the battle is not yet won. We must clinch the victory by seeing to it that the law is enforced and God will yet raise up a champion who will lead His hosts to complete victory. Both addresses breathed a spirit of optimism, though there was no mincing of words as to the dangers confronting the people.

There was special music at both services.

GRINNELL REUNION

Several Glendale citizens, including Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett and Mr. and Mrs. Marsh of Fairview avenue, attended the picnic reunion of graduates of Grinnell (Iowa) College at the Hollywood entrance to Griffith Park. It is a charming place for an outing of that kind as all picnic facilities in the way of fireplaces, ovens, tables, etc., are provided. About 35 were present and supper was served at 6 o'clock. The chief after-dinner speaker was Judge Wells, who addressed the company on the needs of Grinnell College. Among the distinguished guests was Henry James, the novelist. In all respects it was a delightful social occasion and reminder of their alma mater for all who had the pleasure of participating.

JUNIOR TREAT

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS ENTERTAINED WITH PROGRAM AND PARTY

Friday evening one of the big events of the school year, the entertainment of the High School seniors by the juniors took place. It is generally the first large social event given as a forerunner of graduation festivities. All the year juniors have been accumulating money for this social courtesy and the affair was a big success. It began with a program in the High School auditorium which included piano numbers by Kenneth Whaley, whistling solos by Eva Green, an orchestral trio, and a dramatic skit by Eagle Rock talent. The company then adjourned to the cafeteria and to the gym which had colors of the two classes, white and green for the seniors and red and green for the juniors. Scarlet geraniums, Shasta daisies, asparagus fern, palm branches and streamers of green and white and green and red, made the two auditoriums very pretty and festive. In the cafeteria music and games were the diversions while in the gym dancing to music furnished by a Los Angeles orchestra was the order of the evening. At 10:30 ice cream and cake were served in the cafeteria and the games and dancing continued for a time after refreshments.

About two hundred were present and efficient committees were responsible for the various features which contributed to the enjoyment of the evening, their personnel being as follows:

Music: Warren Meeker and Ruby Stone.

Party Committee: Esther Black, Miss Maud Soper, Mr. Hayhurst and Stanley Walker.

Refreshments: Carol Parcher, Elsie Jepps, Helen Beach.

Dancing: Miss Darsie, Arthur Campbell, Bernard Dennison.

ELKS' CLUB ENTERTAINMENT

Elks and their friends who enjoyed the entertainment and dance at the Elks' Club House last Saturday evening report a delightful time. Prince Lei Lani, the Hawaiian tenor, assisted by Miss Grimes, soprano and Miss Townsley, piano soloist and accompanist furnished the entertainment and their names are a sufficient guarantee of its excellence. Following the program was two hours of dancing which was quite informal but none the less enjoyed.

STEAL MOTOR, RETURN FOR OTHER MACHINERY

Robert Mitchell reported to the police that his machine shop, located on S. San Fernando Road, was visited by burglars last Tuesday night and a motor taken. Thursday night they returned for the remainder of his machinery, he supposes, as there were four of them and they brought along a truck. He discovered them attempting to effect an entrance but at his appearance they fled to their truck and drove rapidly away. In his report to the police Mr. Mitchell said he could easily have shot the men but feared he had no authority to do so.

PASSION PLAY

MR. AND MRS. H. W. RALSTON ENGAGED FOR PARTS IN SACRED DRAMA

About ten days ago it was announced that an out-door production of the Passion Play would be given this summer in California where conditions are so ideal for out-of-door affairs. Eastern parties, it was stated, had come to Southern California and quietly secured a desirable location where they would soon be at work sparing no effort to stage it in an effective, impressive manner. It now appears that the location is Cañuenga Pass near Hollywood, where a beautiful Greek theatre is being constructed, and rehearsals of the play have already commenced. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ralston of Glendale have been engaged for two of the parts, Mr. Ralston getting quite an important role. The part of Christ is to be taken by a Mr. Herbert, said to be quite a distinguished actor of the east. The cast will include the twelve disciples, Mary, the Mother of Jesus, Mary Magdalen, and most of the well-known Bible characters.

Mrs. Ralston reports that her son, Howard, has finished his work on Mary Roberts Rinehart's play, "Empire Builders," which will probably not be released before fall, and Esther Ralston has finished her assignment at the Metro Studios, so all the children are free now for a time at least.

FRANCE IS "COMING BACK"

According to a dispatch from Paris, the first of the coal mines that were totally wrecked by the Germans is now being operated. This news is especially pleasing in view of the fact that it comes considerably ahead of the schedule, since in December, 1918, experts predicted it would take at least two years before even the less damaged mines could begin to produce and five years to bring most of the pits into full working order. An additional item of encouragement is that this first mine to be restored is expected to better its best pre-war production because of its modern electrical equipment.

The most thoroughly scientific and systematic job of destruction in the entire history of warfare was that wrought by the Germans in the industrial district of France. The heart of the French industrial district is its coal mines. These lie close together in the departments of the Nord and the Pas de Calais, the industry before the war sustaining a rich and flourishing group of towns and villages connected by a wonderful scheme of railways, canals and perfectly paved highways. The coal fields of Northern France were small compared with the Germans', but they were so well organized and their employes labored so industriously that they competed successfully with the mines of the Ruhr and the Saar.

The French have not sat down and wept amid their ruined industries. They have risen courageously to the emergency and won a second great victory over German kultur. France has shown her ability to "come back." And America will join in the general congratulations on her rapidly recovering prosperity of which the first significant indications are now beginning to appear.

MR. PALMER'S ELISION

At this late stage of his presidential canvass Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer has deleted, elided, expunged, or whatever the legal phraseology should be, the initial A from his name and he signs checks and departmental orders now simply Mitchell Palmer.

Thus, so far as mere nomenclature goes, he lifts himself into the executive class adorned by George Washington, John Adams, Grover Cleveland, who dropped his "Stephen," and Woodrow Wilson who dropped his "Thomas," and a score of others who have established for the superstitious the notion that the American president should have but two parts to his name, and certainly not bifurcate the first. That "A" appears to have formerly impersonated "Alexander," and reflections upon the vicissitudes which the great king of the Macedonians encountered, may have induced the American aspirant to drop the royal prefix. So he cut the Gordian knot. But think of his not being able to weep, should he be nominated, over having no more worlds to conquer.

It is trusted that Mr. Palmer has considered legal aspects of his change of name. Can he lawfully enter a canvass by making this elision retroactive, or have an entry made nunc pro tunc, as the lawyers are fond of saying? Has he arranged for proper identification of ballots cast for a shrunken form, when the campaign had been conducted under the full panoply of Alexander Mitchell Palmer?

However, he does not discard his distinctive name of Palmer, which once meant a Pilgrim.

It is now safe to assume that anything President Wilson is for Bryan is "forninst."

CHICAGO AWAITS OPENING OF BIG REPUBLICAN SHOW

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO, June 7. (United Press.)—Chicago, an inveterate first nighter in things political, today joyously awaited the raising of the curtain on the Republican national convention tomorrow.

Tragedy, comedy, farce or melodrama, Chicago didn't care. She was prepared to enjoy whatever transpired. She had seen all these shows from the fiery days of the civil war through the formal meetings which ratified the choices of party leaders to the convention of the steam roller and the dramatic bolt of Theodore Roosevelt and his bull moosers.

There was no scenario for the big meeting which opened in the huge Coliseum today—none of the epigrams to be voiced, none of the dramatic scenes were predicted, nor the denouement. But Chicago dressed for the occasion. If the 984 delegates and party factotums believed they carried the fate of a nation upon their shoulders, the crowds cared not. They were to enjoy the spectacle, the jockeying and the fighting, perhaps the mob scene from which one figure should emerge—the one man chosen as a candidate to head a nation of one hundred million persons.

Chicago in June usually is warm. With pitch oozing from the block pavements and heat waves dancing from the roof of the great, great, castellated building which is the Coliseum, it was a summery crowd which prepared for its portion of the drama as witness or participant. Despite the discomforts of summer weather it was desired more than the coolness accompanied by rain.

Rain would break up those long processions of beribboned and badged men and women strolling along Chicago's pet street—Michigan boulevard. Rain would subtract the carnival spirit. It would take the joy from those thousands who strolled that street, fanned by a breeze from Lake Michigan on one side, beckoned on the other by the shops with their urge to purchase.

Chicago, accustomed to crowds, was crowded. Streets overflowed. Traffic officers grew hoarse and apologetic, attempting to guide those floods of humanity into the proper channels.

Hotels were choked. With rooms reserved almost from the hour of announcement that the convention was to be held here, the late comers found themselves at the mercy of private homes, where the rate depended only upon ability to pay.

Everywhere there was a quest of notables. The men much in the public prints were pointed out, delightedly hailed and sought at every opportunity. For the most part those men were the ones who kept to their quarters.

All candidates had headquarters running twenty-four hours to the day. Only the directors knew what meant the strenuous bawling into telephones, the hundreds of messages dispatched, the mysterious conferences and the bales of publicity matter handed out.

Men who have watched conventions from the time of the civil war pronounced the convention of this year the greatest of them all. They spoke from the standpoint of interest manifested by delegates and visitors. Confident that this is a Republican year and that the G. O. P. candidate will romp to victory, there was an air of elation in all the party activities.

James Preston, press sergeant-at-arms, who attends both Republican and Democratic conventions, said that this was the greatest of them all from the point of attendance. The several hundred newspapermen gathered to report the proceedings were under his care. He claimed never to have seen so many men of the press together before.

PARALLEL DRAWN

RELATION BETWEEN JERUSALEM'S DESTRUCTION AND SECOND COMING OF CHRIST

"Back of every great event there is a lesson to be learned," declared Pastor W. D. MacLay, who spoke at the Seventh-day Adventist church, Saturday morning. Basing his sermon upon Matthew 24, he drew a striking parallel between the destruction of Jerusalem and the second coming of Christ.

"Near to the Savior as the disciples were they could hardly credit the prediction that their beautiful temple, so solidly built, would go down in the wholesale destruction of Jerusalem. The Lord cited a succession of events which would precede the overthrow of the city and told the disciples that a sign would be given all true believers that they might know when to flee from the doomed city.

"This sign, as recorded in Luke 21:20, was the approach of the Roman armies. All who believed the prophecy escaped to the mountains. Millions of unbelievers perished, being cruelly tortured by the Romans."

The pastor declared that the great sin of the Jewish people at that time was hypocrisy. Like a great cancer with its nucleus in the hearts of the priests and leaders, pretension had reached to every part of the nation. Having a form of religion, but without the power of life in it, their last vestige of national honor was taken from them as a divine punishment.

"We are living in a time," said Elder MacLay, "when we must loosen our anchorage on temporal things and get ready for the Lord's coming. While worldly possessions, comforts and luxuries are necessary to a certain extent, the heart's affections are not to be fixed upon these things. It is possible to be actively engaged in life's necessary pursuits and yet to be ready and willing to relinquish them all at any time. The chief business of a Christian should be the preaching of the gospel by life and precept, all else being secondary.

"The same great sin—hypocrisy—that caused the downfall of the Jewish people is in the hearts of many professing Christians today. There is a form of religion, but the lives of such show no fruits of the Spirit.

"Those whose characters will stand the best when Christ comes must begin now to get ready, lest He coming suddenly should find them unprepared, and they perish in the destruction with the hypocrites and unbelievers."

INGLEWOOD WINS A CHAMPIONSHIP

W. D. Root of the High School, and several students of the school, also Prof. Alfred Cookman, whose home is in this city though he is a teacher in the Santa Monica schools, represented Glendale at the championship debate of the Debating League of Southern California, which takes in about a dozen of the large schools in this part of the state. It took place Friday evening in Mills-paugh Hall of the University of California, Southern Branch. Long Beach and Inglewood High were matched. The question was: "Resolved, That the United States has outgrown the Washingtonian idea of non-interference in European affairs." The judges were Federal Judge Bledsoe, Judge Craig of the Superior Court and Mr. Wells who for many years was debating coach for U. S. C. They gave a verdict in favor of the Inglewood debaters who had the affirmative. There was a girl and a boy on each team.

The debating department of the Glendale High School had challenged the winning school to a debate on the same subject, but it is so late in the season that the Inglewood champions did not care to make such an engagement with Commencement so near.

OPPORTUNITY FOR MEXICO

Carranza dead, whether killed in battle or murdered makes little difference, simplifies the Mexican political situation to a degree. The faction which he led, being left without a head, will cease to be a factor of importance in the struggle for control of the country. Had Carranza made his escape from Mexico he would have been a potential source of trouble to the succeeding regime, just as Huerta, a refugee in the United States, was for a period a thorn in the side of the Carranza government in its early days, and exactly as the former German kaiser will be a disturbing political factor in Europe as long as he lives.

It is a coldblooded doctrine but highly practical that a ruler deprived by authority by other than constitutional methods should be put to death. In the case of Mexico, however, there can be no certainty that pacification will be the more readily accomplished with Carranza out of the way. Even though the factions which drove the president out of office should compose their differences, new insurrecto parties are likely to arise and carry on their activities in a manner to make Mexico a continuing plague spot in the Western Hemisphere. But there is now a chance for the election of a president and the formation of a government that will establish just and stable conditions below the Rio Grande. We can only hope for the best. If we do not expect too much we cannot be grievously disappointed.

Carranza came into power with great opportunities for being of service to Mexico. But he was temperamentally unfit for the high office he assumed. His arrogance and the injustice of his policies toward foreigners in Mexico, together with his weakness in dealing with the insurrecto chiefs who had taken the field against him, kept Carranza continually in hot water. The friends that he might have had were alienated by his own acts. When the last serious movement was made against his government there was nowhere he could turn for assistance.

Carranza gave Mexico a constitution under which that country might take a place among enlightened nations, but he failed woefully as an administrator. May his successors profit by his mistakes.

MARSHALL FIELD'S WILL

However questioned may be the means by which Marshall Field sought to tie up his property so his grandsons could not have unrestricted use of it until reaching the age of 50, his purpose is commendable. As disclosed by counsel for the estate in contesting the suit of Marshall Field III to break the will, the Chicago merchant prince aimed to protect his descendants from living "useless lives of luxury and idleness."

Inasmuch, however, as young Mr. Field already has an income in excess of $500,000 a year, there appears to be nothing to prevent him, if he so desires, from living a life of luxury and idleness, even though the will should remain undisturbed. Most persons would consider themselves independent of the necessity to engage in a gainful occupation if assured of an income of a few thousand dollars a year. They might even lead what, according to their views, were lives of luxury on such an annuity; for a Ford automobile is as much of a luxury to some as a palatial ocean-going yacht would be to others.

As a matter of fact, lives of idleness are not dependent on large means. The innate character of a man, and the manner in which he has been raised, rather than the possession of wealth, determine whether or not he will be an idler, concerned principally with self-indulgence, or a worker inspired with a desire to leave the world the better for his having lived in it. Either course is open to both rich and poor.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY

Once more we are on the eve of national conventions, with not the slightest attention being given in any quarter to the vice presidency. The mere suggestion that any of the presidential aspirants might take second place provokes hot resentment. Yet, after the experience of the past year, it might have been thought that special care would have been taken this year to seek out vice presidential timber of the first rank.

It is, of course, familiar that until 1804 the electoral college proceeded upon the practice of making the second of the leading candidates for president the vice president. May there not be the germ of a suggestion in this thought of the founders of the republic that might be translated into the modern national conventions and the practice adopted there of drafting the candidates polling the second largest vote for second place on the ticket? It would dignify the office which so many now affect to slight, but which is worthy the ambition of any American citizen.

In business organizations there is no such evasion or belittlement of the position of vice president of a great corporation. It is eagerly sought and the men chosen are selected for their demonstrated ability to succeed to the chief position if necessary.

RELICS OF A MONSTER

It speaks well for New York that an auction sale there of articles alleged to have been obtained from the former palace of the former kaiser at Berlin found few buyers, at least few ready to pay much for things depending for their value upon such a monarch. Possession of the relics of a monster would, of course, be different if they were of the nature of war trophies. Then the captor might treasure the royal beer mug or salad fork much as a claw shot from a murderous crocodile. Also a collection of things captured from the beast of Berlin would be appropriate for exhibition in the snake house of the zoo, but, as for buying them to adorn a home, that is different.

To be sure, there are the morbid who crave relics even of the lowest criminals. Again there are the few diseased minds, some of them even in this country, that hold Wilhelm as a saint. However, the indications are that the purchasers were simply of the type not advanced beyond the stage of holding royalty in awe and so ignorant even of the world war sentiment as to think it would distinguish them to possess some "bought" articles that once belonged to Kaiser Wilhelm. When the new owners attempt to boast over their new purchases, however, their real American neighbors will give them the lesson they need.

June brings out the distinction between the undergraduate and the senior. One thinks most of his vacation; the other of his vacation.

COVINA QUILTS

The Glendale High School ball team played a rather farcical game with Covina Friday afternoon on the home grounds. The latter could do nothing with Fred Jenkins' pitching and he finally got to tossing the balls over the plate to give the fielders exercise in getting under and catching fly balls. Covina quit after 6 innings, the score standing then 6 to 2 in favor of Glendale.
